

Dr. Nada A. Harward
Adjunct Faculty
Paris-Sorbonne University Abu Dhabi
United Arab Emirates

Nada Abdallah Harward is currently an adjunct faculty member at Paris-Sorbonne University Abu Dhabi and a consultant for international and United Nations Affairs. She has over 17 years of experience in multicultural and international environments in four continents as a change agent, with expertise in international law, program design implementation and assessment, projects coordination, administration of cultural centers and museums, gender and human rights projects, communication and PR management, negotiation, lobbying, and research. Member of the management team in two successful start-ups of international organizations where resources were constrained and operating environment challenged.

During the past few years, she worked for the United Nations System as a consultant, social and coordination officer, at the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), the Centre for Women of the Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia (ESCWA) and the UN Resident Coordinator's Office, heading the South Sub-Office and assisting in the coordination of 23 UN agencies, programmes and funds present in Lebanon.

Prior to this, she worked for the UN Staff Counsellor's office in New York, MINURSO, a peacekeeping mission in Africa, the World Associations of Local Authorities Coordination in Geneva headed at the time by ATO (Arab Towns Organizations), Embassy of Qatar and the Arab World Institute (IMA), a cultural intergovernmental organization in Paris.

She holds a PhD level degree in International law (ABD-All but Dissertation), the Diploma of High International Studies and a Masters in Political Science from Paris II and Paris I /Sorbonne Universities in France.

Languages (Fluent in English, French, Arabic). French and Lebanese nationality.